

Introduction to the Role of the Early Years Practitioner

The Kids Love Nature Values

Our core values run through all we do at Kids Love Nature. They provide the framework for us to support you and you to support others.

Inspiring

Considered

Love

Learning

Context and Purpose of the Role

- To be part of the team to support the development of all children and families.
- To be an active learner so that you are able to develop and evolve with the company.
- To build lasting relationship with colleagues, children, families and the wider community.

The Early Years Practitioner has Responsibility for:

- Working in all aspects of nursery life to make the team a success
- Supporting and nurturing the child
- Acting through our core values
- Meeting the statutory requirements and the expectations of the Company

The Space:

Everyone in the team has a responsibility to ensure the nursery space is safe and dynamic for all. We will provide training on what we mean by a 'Considered Space' and the impact it has.

The Child:

We will support your deepening understanding of child development. We will focus on attachment theory, emotional literacy, brain development, communication and how this relates to the spaces we create and the relationships we build.

The Adult:

We look carefully at ourselves in relation to the children and spaces we work within. We focus on team dynamics, partnership working and collaboration. We will support your development needs so you are best placed to support the development of others.

Required Qualifications, Experience, Knowledge and Physical Requirements

- Working towards, or completed level three qualification in early years
- A commitment to excellence in early years care and education
- A love of the outdoors as a learning environment
- This role requires a level of physical fitness and mobility

Kids Love Nature Safer recruitment statement.

Kids Love Nature are committed to safeguarding the welfare of all children in our care. Please see our website for our safer recruitment statement.